

theINSECUREleader

{ everything to prove // everything to lose } *unable to admit weakness creates an environment of pressure not peace sneaky

won't move forward unless guaranteed success controlling positions self for recognition pretentious
poor objectivity
paralyzed by fear of failure suspicious of others doesn't own personal mistakes or blame unable to think of others' development shallow relationships demanding
kills creativity
legalistic
threatened by gifted people intimidates others
unwilling to let others fail micromanages
unteachable
critical
prone to anxiety*

Trust is rooted in self

This is what the Lord says: cursed is the one who trusts in man, who depends on flesh for his strength and whose heart turns away from the LORD.
[Jeremiah 17:5]

Bryce Bouchard

{ nothing to prove // nothing to lose } theSECUREleader

*motivated and motivates, rather than driven and driving others role doesn't define identity surrounds self with leaders who are more gifted unselfish
willing to move in fear creates high trust environments unhurried
fosters a sense of wellbeing sacrifices for others
open to critique
lets others' strengths complement their weaknesses believes the best of others takes risks
high objectivity
lasting fruit
free to delegate well
fosters creativity
team feels free to correct/disagree with them trusting
strong relationships
develops and recognizes others open handed with people*

Trust is rooted in God

But blessed is the man who trusts in the LORD, whose confidence is in him He will be like a tree planted by the water that sends out its roots by the streams. It does not fear when heat comes; its leaves are always green. It has no worries in a year of drought and never fails to bear fruit.
[Jeremiah 17:7,8]